

NOTED SPEAKERS
ADDRESS RED CROSS
WORKERS OF COUNTYTell of the Work Done by The Organization in the Spring
Floods of 1936

MANY WERE AIDED

Moving Picture Shown, Giving Actual Scenes of Rescue Work

By Staff Correspondent

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 19.—The annual roll call meeting of the South-eastern Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Red Cross was held at the Country Club here on Saturday with more than 100 members in attendance. Two prominent speakers addressed the group, representing the Bucks County branches, on the work of the American Red Cross in disaster relief, and related their experiences in the spring floods of 1936.

Miss Helen Caldwell, Washington, D. C., member of the National Red Cross disaster staff, told of the work of the organization in aiding disaster sufferers and of her experiences in the spring flood in the Wilkes-Barre section. Mrs. Sarah Allen, member of the Southeastern Branch told of her experiences in the Pittsburgh area during the Spring floods.

Miss Caldwell gave a short sketch of the background of the Red Cross for disaster relief work and explained that this work has grown up over a 55-year period. Miss Caldwell said, "And from these disasters in the past a real program for aiding the sufferers has been devised and now the American Red Cross is looked upon as America's disaster relief agency."

"In the ensuing 55 years from the time of its organization in 1881 the flag of the Red Cross has flown upon every scene of major disaster in the United States. The Red Cross has carried relief—food, clothing, shelter, medical aid, rehabilitation of homes and families—to more than 1,900 scenes of disaster, large and small, at home and abroad, and has expended $169,500,000 in this work of mercy. Thousands of families, left homeless and hopeless by the forces of nature, might otherwise have sunk into destitution were it not for the helping hand of this society and of the people who

Continued on Page Two

St. Ann's Church Scene
Of Wedding on Saturday

A pretty wedding took place in St. Ann's Catholic Church, Saturday at 2:30 p. m., when Miss Angeline Messinelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Messinelli, 335 Penn street, became the bride of James Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bradley, 621 Spruce street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Marcellino Romagnolo. The wedding march was played by Miss Frances Tamburella; and Miss Elizabeth Scurti, Dorrance street, sang "I Love You Truly."

The maid of honor was Miss Katharine Bradley, 621 Spruce street, sister of the groom; and the bridesmaid was Miss Rose Mauro, 325 Penn street. The best man was David Ennis, Buckley street. The bride wore a gown of white satin fashioned Princess style. The bodice was shirred in front and the long skirt ended with a train. The veil of tulle had a headpiece trimmed with satin. Her slippers were satin, and she carried white lilies.

The maid of honor was attired in poudre blue satin, made jacket effect with high standing collar, short puffed sleeves and the long skirt slightly flared, ended in a short train. She wore a pink tulle hat trimmed with satin, pink sandals, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium. The bridesmaid wore a gown of ashes of roses brocade taffeta, fashioned on long, close-fitting lines, with high standing collar, short puffed sleeves, and the skirt ending in a train. Blue moire sandals, blue tulle hat trimmed with taffeta, completed her costume, and she carried pink roses and blue delphinium.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple then left for New York for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley will reside at 1926 Trenton avenue.

HAS A PARTY

A surprise party was given Saturday evening in honor of Angelo Ferri on his 20th birthday. The evening was spent singing and playing games. Refreshments were enjoyed. The guest of honor received many gifts.

YOUNG AMERICANS TO MEET

The young Americans of East Bristol Township are to meet Friday evening, October 23rd, in the Republican Headquarters, 218 Mill street, at eight o'clock.

TIDES AT BRISTOL

High water ..... 4.39 a. m.; 5.04 p. m.
Low water ..... 12.07 a. m.; 12.16 p. m.

TORRESDALE MANOR

Mr. and Mrs. Rossell E. Williams, Germantown, were Friday evening guests of Miss Edna Katzmar and Richard Brackin.

Mrs. Samuel Brackin, Mrs. Arthur Knorr, Mrs. George Bauer, Andalusia, and Mrs. Edward G. Katzmar, Torredale Manor, were Thursday luncheon guests of Mrs. Robert S. Brackin, Drexel Hill.

Mrs. Edward G. Katzmar entertained the Ladies Pinochle Club at her home on Tuesday evening. Mrs. James Moore won first prize and Mrs. Albert Vickers, second. Supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Petchall entertained recently, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Richardson, Philadelphia.

Mrs. E. Ely, Cornwells Heights, entertained the Wednesday afternoon card party. Mrs. Robert Barnhill won first prize and Mrs. Harry Clermont second.

Mrs. Lester Engle and family recently spent a day in Yonkers, N. Y., visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. Hare.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill and family recently spent a few days in Washington, D. C.

CRAWL INTO WAR-TORN
TOWNS FOR BAPTISMSTwo Spanish Mothers Anxious To Have Rites Performed
For Their Babies

WRITER WAS A WITNESS

(Note: Following is the 29th of the war logs sent from the Spanish battlefield by H. R. Knickerbocker, famous roving correspondent of International News Service.)

By H. R. Knickerbocker
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
(Copyright 1936 by I. N. S.)

SANTA OLALLA, Spain, Oct. 19.—(INS)—This morning it was not the flies but the squalling of two husky infants which woke us up. Two mothers had crept into the village during the night, learned it was really true that the Whites had complete control, and at the break of dawn here they were clamoring for the regimental chaplain to baptize their children.

The village priest and his assistant had been murdered by the Reds a month before, the women said, and there had been nobody who could baptize the new born.

There may be a good deal of religious scepticism among the peasantry of Spain but there is none whatever among peasant mothers when it comes to a question of their infants. They are taking no chances, and these mothers had walked twenty miles on the off chance of finding a chaplain to rescue their babies from possible purgatory.

The chaplain finally got up from his pallet on the floor, dashed cold water over his face and said he was ready for the ceremony. The two babies bawled bloody murder, but I have never in my life seen women so bliss-

Continued on Page Four

FALLS FROM AUTO

A tot of four years, Alfred Pulaski, 4218 Third avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., fell from an automobile, Saturday afternoon, injuring his face and head. The boy, riding with Mrs. John Sugalski, evidently struck the door handle, and as the door opened he fell to the roadway. Twelve stitches were required in the deep, ragged laceration of his head, he being taken to the Harriman Hospital.

They Are All Around You, Mr. President

(New York American, October 15, 1936)

By HAROLD LOID VARNEY

Mr. Roosevelt's asperity in disclaiming the support of "any individual or group taking orders from alien sources" might have been received with greater seriousness if it had not come so quickly AFTER HIS PUBLIC ACCEPTANCE OF JUST SUCH A BODY OF SUPPORT.

The indignant Early statement was released in Washington on September 18th. But only two days before, the President himself had issued a public letter to the American Labor Party of the State of New York declaring his "sense of deep appreciation" that the party "will throw its full support to me this year."

UNFORTUNATELY FOR MR. ROOSEVELT, THE TWO STATEMENTS ARE GLARINGLY CONTRADICTORY.

For an examination of the affiliated bodies which compose the American Labor Party reveals the fact that no less than three UNMISTAKABLY COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED LABOR BODIES have already been accepted by the A. L. P. as FULL MEMBERS AND PARTICIPANTS IN THE PARTY.

Mr. Roosevelt, whether he realized it or not, was ACCEPTING THE SUPPORT OF THESE THREE RED GROUPS when he PUBLICLY ACCEPTED the candidacy of the American Labor Party.

Let us glance briefly at these organizations.

1—THE TRADE UNION COMMITTEE FOR A LABOR PARTY—This is a body purporting to be composed of 103 New York unions which was set up on May 24th, shortly before the organization of the A. L. P., TO CARRY OUT THE OFFICIAL COMMUNIST PARTY LINE FOR AN INDEPENDENT LABOR PARTY.

Its leaders are practically all Left-Wing trade unionists who have long been publicly identified with the party Communists in their various "boring-from-within" ventures in the New York unions.

One of the most conspicuous leaders of the Committee, whose name was featured in three successive issues of the DAILY WORKER this Spring in connection with the preliminary organizing preparations, is Louis Weinstock.

Now the Secretary-Treasurer of Painters' District Council No. 9, Weinstock has long been one of the foremost members of the New York Communist Party and was once expelled from the American Federation of Labor for his Communist activities.

All in all, the list of unions composing the Committee sounds like a roll-call of the bodies which marched in the Communist May Day parade in New York this year.

2—THE FURRIERS JOINT COUNCIL.—This body is THE MOST SOLIDLY COMMUNIST-CONTROLLED TRADE UNION IN THE UNITED STATES.

The Manager and undisputed boss of the Council is BEN GOLD, who was recently re-elected as Manager by a unanimous vote of his members.

GOLD IS A MEMBER OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY INNER CIRCLE, AND IS RUNNING IN THIS VERY ELECTION AS THE OFFICIAL COMMUNIST PARTY NOMINEE FOR ASSEMBLYMAN IN THE 7TH BRONX DISTRICT.

His Communism is of so red a hue that Edward F. McGrady, now the President's most intimate labor adviser, spent several months in New York several years ago in a desperate campaign to drive Gold out of the labor movement.

In his statement before the Dickstein Committee, William

Continued on Page Four

ST. ANN'S LOSES OPENING GAME BY ONE POINTFinal Score of Game With Dittman A. C. Was 3 to 2,
On Landreth Field

WIBBLE STAR OF GAME

By Thomas Juno

The final score of the tilt was 3-2 and still it was a football game and not a baseball game.

The above figures represent the margin of the Dittman A. C. team's victory over the St. Ann's Golden Avalanche yesterday afternoon on the Landreth field before a large turnout.

It was the trustworthy toe of Billy Wibble, former Frankford High star, that carried the visiting aggregation to triumph by the one point. Standing

Continued on Page Four

DOG SHOW ATTRACTS
BIG CROWD SPECTATORSOne Hundred and Seventy-Six
Were Entered and Competition Was Keen

TO ANNOUNCE WINNERS

Bristol's first American Kennel Sanctioned Dog Show, held on the Laing Estate, Newport Road, yesterday, was pronounced by the more than 250 localites and out-of-town residents who attended, a marked success.

Judging for the 176 dogs entered began at ten in the morning and continued on through to four in the afternoon. Some of the finest dogs in the East were entered in the show.

Among the many prize winners were a number of Bristolians and residents of nearby communities, but the tabulations for the great number of events have not as yet been completed. Tomorrow the winners will be announced.

Astaire and Rogers Are Appearing in Film Here

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, whose film musicals have catapulted them to the top of screendom's fame, definitely score a new triumph in "Swing Time," their latest vehicle which opened at the Grand Theatre yesterday, and showing Monday and Tuesday.

Their dancing in this gaily melodic comedy offering is at their best to the exciting rhythm of Jerome Kern music and the lyrics by Dorothy Fields. The supporting cast and direction are brilliant.

The plot of "Swing Time" concerns itself with the interviewing relationships between Astaire as a happy-go-lucky, sporting song-and-dance man, Betty Furness as his small-town fiancée, Miss Rogers as an instructress in Eric Blome's dancing academy and Georges Metaxa as a haughty band leader, with Victor Moore and Helen Broderick doing their amusing and misguided best to straighten out matters.

The strikingly effective "The Waltz in Swing Time" seems to be the dance hit of the picture and "The Way You Look Tonight" and "A Fine Romance" the two biggest song successes.

MEET AT 7:30

TULLYSTOWN, Oct. 19.—A meeting of Tullytown Fire Company will be held tonight at 7:30 in the fire station, instead of eight, as previously planned.

EDGELY

There were nine tables of pinochle players at the Ladies' Auxiliary card party last week in Dick's Hall. Highest scores were attained by: Mrs. O. to Rohn, 759; Mrs. M. Gladwin, 752; Aline Wright, 729; Mrs. Peter Mannherz, Sr., 729, and Howard Wilson, 716.

The Sunday School of Edgely Union Chapel held rally day services on October 11th. After the usual lesson, the pastor, William Rogers, gave an interesting address. Following this, John Conyers sang "Beneath the Cross of Jesus." Superintendent Mr. McSherry then extended a welcome. There were 119 present on Sunday with seven classes having perfect attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Wally Allgire, New York, spent from Saturday until Monday at the home of Mrs. John Conyers. Mrs. Conyers returned to New York with her guests on Monday and is spending a few days there.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kerr and daughters Doris and Wilma, Miss Lillian Kerr and Arline Kerr spent a day in Collegeville, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vanderslice.

HULMEVILLE CHURCH IS
SCENE OF A MARRIAGEMiss Winifred A. Dicken Becomes the Wife of Francis
J. Ward

TO RESIDE IN SOUTH

HULMEVILLE, Oct. 19.—A wedding of interest to many in this locality occurred in Grace Episcopal Church, Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, the contracting parties being Miss Winifred Ann Dicken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Dicken, Hulmeville; and Francis John Ward, Philadelphia.

The officiating clergymen were the Rev. Albert F. Fisher, Jr., of Grace Episcopal Church; and the Rev. Waldo Parker, of St. James's Episcopal Church, Langhorne. The double ring ceremony was used.

Attendants of the couple were: Mrs. Jacob Stockert, Oxford Valley, sister of the bride, who served as bridesmaid; and Ernest A. Dicken, brother of the bride, as best man. The ushers were Jacob Stockert, Oxford Valley; and Clifford Vansant, Middletown Township. Miss Clara L. Illick presided at the organ console.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin, lace trimmed. The dress was a floor length, front fitting model, entrain. A stand-up collar, and long sleeves were also features of the gown. The veil of net was cap shaped, and had trim of satin rose buds. Silver sandals completed the costume. Her bouquet was composed of bridal lilies and baby's-breath.

Mrs. Stockert, the bride's attendant,

Continued on Page Two

Two Men Injured When
Car Crashes Bridge Fence

Two men riding in a coupe crashed through the fence at the Tullytown bridge early last evening. Both men were hurt and are in the Harriman Hospital.

Injured: Henry H. Reese, 3259 N. Dover street, Philadelphia. Cuts and bruises about the head and chest.

Edward Dietrich, 140 E. Allegheny avenue, Philadelphia. Possible fracture of the skull.

It is said that Reese was driving the car which was traveling toward Philadelphia. In approaching the bridge he failed to take the curve at the foot of the approach and crashed through the fence, going into the field.

Two passing motorists brought the injured to the Harriman Hospital. Highway Patrolman Carfagno investigated.

Plaintiff Given $4895
Verdict in County Court

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 19.—A verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $4895 and costs was returned Friday in Bucks county civil court in the case of William N. Ottinger, receiver of the Southwestern National Bank, a corporation, against The Enterprise Wall Paper Manufacturing Company, a corporation, of Langhorne.

The case has been on trial for several days before Judge Calvin S. Boyer. The plaintiff was represented by I. L. Rubin, Bristol, John L. DuBois, of Doylestown, and a Philadelphia attorney. Suit was brought to recover damages growing out of the sale of wall paper machinery that had been removed from one factory to another.

The case of Conrad A. Knudson and Annie Knudson, his wife, of Middletown township, against Anatol Skulkin and Dorothy Bates Skulkin, his wife, of New York City, and Allie Arwine and Jennie M. Arwine against Anatol Skulkin, that started Friday, were not completed. The jury in the case was directed to return this morning when three more defense witnesses will be called before the jury is charged by Judge Hiram H. Keller. The plaintiffs are suing for damages as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident at Washington Crossing.

Because of the disposal of many of the cases on the trial list, it was not necessary to use any of the jurors drawn for the second week of civil court. With the exception of one other case to be tried this week, and the two cases on trial now, no other business is listed for the October civil term.

CHEER, AID FROM GUILD
GARMENTS IS TOLD OFMrs. Mary Stoneman, Phila., Speaks at Exhibit of Corn-
wells Needlework Guild

HAVE A FINE DISPLAY

EDDINGTON, Oct. 19.—Assembling for the annual in-gathering of garments, members and friends of Cornwells Branch of the Needlework Guild of America, found more than 1,000 articles of clothing displayed in the Eddington Presbyterian Church house, Saturday afternoon.

Stressing quality rather than quantity the women of the guild were enabled to gather for the 1936 exhibition a splendid array of outer- and undergarments for men, women, boys, girls, and babies.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Mary Stoneman, superintendent of the Moyamensing Soup House, S. Tenth street, Philadelphia, who recounted heart-rending experiences in her missionary work, with the hard spots of life being smoothed over in many instances through Needlework Guild garments.

Mrs. Frank A. Simons, president of the Guild, was in charge of the meeting. The other officers are: Vice-president, Mrs. A. T. Lippincott; secretary, Mrs. J. W. Simons; treasurer, Mrs. Alma Becker.

The Cornwells Guild has a total of 15 directors, these including the following: Mrs. H. L. Becker, Mrs. F. A. Simons, Mrs. W. Simons, Mrs. A. T. Lippincott.

Continued on Page Two

CROYDON

Arrangements are being made for a Landon-Knox rally to be held in the Croydon Arena, State Road and Cedar avenue, Croydon, on Saturday night.

Speakers will be announced at a later date. The affair will be under the auspices of the Bristol Township Republicans.

FARMERS ARE TOLD
HOW TO MEET WITH
WEST'S COMPETITIONBucks and Phila. County
Farmers Meet at St. Francis School, Eddington

HOCHBAUM SPEAKS

"Must Constantly Be On The
Look-Out for Something
New," He Tells Growers

EDDINGTON, Oct. 19.—More than 100 farm folk of Philadelphia and Bucks County gathered at the St. Francis Industrial School here Saturday afternoon and evening for the annual outing which included a varied and interesting program. Besides the featured speech of the evening given by H. W. Hochbaum, of the division of co-operative extension, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, there was a display of farm products from farms of Bucks and Philadelphia counties, two moving pictures, a puppet show, and a round-up of the Trevose and Warminster township 4-H groups.

Hochbaum, who has been engaged in the agricultural extension division in Washington for the past 18 years, and who has traveled over every part of the United States studying farming conditions, praised the farm work as it is carried on in Pennsylvania.

It was told there is a competition from the West that is hurting our Eastern farmers and the only way to overcome this is for the farmers of this section to grow things that are more attractive and use better grading and better packing.

"We must constantly be on the look-out for something new, not only in this section, but all over the country, we must be able to meet the changes of our modern demands," Hochbaum urged.

"There are many vegetables that are easily grown, but people know nothing about them, and therefore we must advertise these new things. To really succeed we must popularize vegetables more. This can be done by showing people how to cook and prepare vegetables in a more tasty and delectable manner, and by introducing new recipes."

"In other words, we must meet these modern situations with modern methods, and in order to meet this competition from the West we must develop a taste for the goods we must all do more to advertise their qualities."

"And if we do not meet these changes in farming then this activity will pass out as it already has in some

Continued on Page Two

Laganza-Gilardi Wedding
Solemnized in Bristol

The wedding of Miss Katharine Gilardi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilardi, 438 Lafayette street, and Thomas Laganza, 1330 South Ringgold street, Philadelphia, took place yesterday afternoon in St. Ann's Catholic Church, with Rev. Marcellino Romagnolo, officiating. Miss Frances Tamburella played the wedding march and Miss Carmella Norato, Dorrance street, sang "I Love You Truly." Miss Helen Moffo, Wood street, attended the bride and Francis McFadden, Philadelphia, was best man.

The bride wore a white transparent velvet gown, made on close fitting lines. It featured a Queen Ann collar. The skirt was made with a train. Her tulle veil was made with a head-piece of lace and pearls, Spanish style. She wore white satin slippers and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and gardenias.

Miss Moffo was attired in dark green taffeta, fashioned with a tight-fitting hip-length jacket, short sleeves cut full, and long full skirt. The front of the dress was trimmed with artificial flowers in shades of roses tone. She wore a small off-the-face taffeta hat trimmed with a short veil, gold slippers and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

The ring-bearer, Joseph Connelly, 348 Jefferson avenue, was attired in a suit of black velvet.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Laganza left for New York. Upon their return they will reside at 1518 West Diamond street, Philadelphia.

The bride graduated as a nurse from St. Mary's Hospital, Philadelphia, in 1934.

CUTS FOOT

Joseph Bellerby, Croydon, cut his right foot on a milk bottle, yesterday. At Harriman Hospital several stitches were taken in the wound.

PLAYER IS HURT

While playing with the Andalusia football team yesterday, Hugh Schriber, 2774 Helen street, Philadelphia, injured his left shoulder. He was taken to Harriman Hospital.

IS GUEST HERE

Miss Anna L. Brady, Mt. Airy, is a guest for some time of Miss M. Jarvis and Mrs. Lewis Rodan, Radcliffe street.

This Strange New Deal

From May 12, 1933 to March 31, 1936, farmers received $1,135,929, 072 in rental and benefit payments.

88% of this amount went to producers of cotton, wheat, corn, hogs and tobacco. The dairymen received little or nothing. Yet, the annual value of dairy products alone is 3 times as great as cotton, wheat and corn combined.

ALFRED PANEPINTO

The Bristol Courier

Established 1910

Published Every Evening (Except Sunday) at Beaver and Garden Sts., Bristol, Pa., Bell Phone 846

Only Daily Paper in Lower Bucks County

BRISTOL PRINTING COMPANY

Owner and Publisher

Incorporated May 27, 1914

Bertil D. Deffenbach, Managing Editor

Ellis E. Ratcliffe, Secretary

Subscription Price per Year, in advance, $2.00; Six Months, $1.50; Three Months, 75c.

The Courier is delivered by carrier

in Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

Bristol, Edgely, Tullytown, Bridge

water, Croydon, Andalusia, West

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol, April 22, 1876. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The statistical report of the Presbyterian Church of Bristol was presented to the Presbytery last Tuesday, and is as follows: Communicants added in the year on examination, 9; by certificate, 2; total now in full communion, 150. Baptisms, adults, 2; infants, 11. Sabbath School membership, 227. Funds contributed during the year: Home missions, $235; foreign missions, $144; education, $190; publication, $20; church erection, $27; relief fund, $56; freedmen, $29; general assembly, $13.94; sustentation, $33; congregational, $3450; miscellaneous, $100.

On next Monday evening Prof. M. T. Smiley will open a writing school at public school building No. 1. Prof. Smiley comes well recommended and is now engaged in giving a three months' course in the Bristol public schools. Specimens of his work are on exhibition at the post office.

On the morning of the 18th instant, the barn of W. Blinn, cigar maker, Newtown, was destroyed by fire; about $300 worth of leaf tobacco was destroyed besides two wagon loads of manufactured cigars. Cause of fire unknown. The property was insured.

The Philadelphia express for New York on Monday last ran into a pair of horses and wagon at Newark, completely demolishing the whole team. The driver had gone into a saloon to get a drink, and consequently lost his team.

Gustavus Staahe, of Newportville, and Isaac W. Pennock, of Philadelphia, have leased the farm of Joseph Canby, purchased of John Roberts, near Newportville—they intend it for the purpose of keeping horses.

At the spelling bee at Trenton on Friday night, two Bucks County ladies won the prizes. The first, a gold watch, was taken by Miss Cornelia Williams, of Morrisville, and the second was won by Lizzie Longshore, of Newtown.

Arrangements are being made for an inter-county spelling match. Ten of the best spellers in Bucks County have been selected, and it is supposed that the first contest will be with Chester.

The North Penn R. R. Company are going to build a large depot at Doylestown this season.

On Tuesday evening last a large audience assembled at Caben's Hall to witness the spelling bee. The hall was packed with people, and numbers were forced to go away, being unable to gain admission. The object for which the bee was held was a commendable one—the replenishment of the treasury of the American Hose Company. At the hour for commencing the exercises, Prof. Krichbaum, after announcing the programme for the evening, gave a vivid description of the old-time spelling bee held in some little log school house. . . . At last but three remained—Harry Allen, Daniel Muncy and Joseph W. Swain. Joseph put an extra "r" in a schoolmaster's "ferule," and was excused. Daniel spelled "pus" with an "s" too many, and was allowed to depart, leaving Harry Allen champion of the evening. . . .

WARMINSTER—At a cow sale held at Samuel Robinson's hotel on Thursday last, 19 cows were sold at an average price of $51 only.

Sixty-two gentlemen, ministers and ruling elders constituted the Presbytery which met in the Presbyterian Church of this borough, on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. They were most welcome guests in the homes which they occupied, and went from us delighted with the hospitality which they received.

HULMEVILLE—The jury on the proposed road leading from Hulmeville and Attleboro' road to Flowers' mill met last week and reported in favor of the road.

John J. Sprout, a well-known citizen of this place, has moved to Philadelphia, where he will go into the furniture business. He has resided in this place for seven years.

Dr. Hendrie of Doylestown, an old practitioner and a ruling elder of the Presbyterian Church, died last Tuesday evening. His loss will be much regretted by his numerous friends.

Regular use of the Courier Classified column is economical and profitable.

POCKETBOOK FACTS ABOUT YOUR TAXES

New Deal Boosts Rents

A large part of housing costs is attributable to taxation.

A nation-wide survey shows that 24.7 per cent of the total amount of residential rental payments in January, 1936, was used in payment of real estate taxes and insurance.

It means that a very large share of housing costs is due to taxes. The burden of taxation on housing, which includes Federal taxes on top of local real estate taxes, is disproportionate in comparison with other kinds of taxes. A little less than one-fifth of the national income has recently gone for taxes, Federal, State and local. Taxes on housing are greater than the average of all taxes.

Rents could be lowered materially if taxes were reduced. One-fourth of a moderate income is likely to go for rent, and about one-fourth of the rent is due to taxes.

Hulmeville Church Is Scene of A Marriage

Continued from Page One

wore a dress of aquamarine toned satin, this form fitting model having a full skirt and short train. The jacket had short puff sleeves. The head-dress was a small cap of rhine-stones, and sandals were of white and silver tones, and Mrs. Stockert carried an arm bouquet of talisman roses.

Prior to the nuptial ceremony, Miss Illick played "Humoresque" (Dvorak), "Perfect Day" (Bond); "One Fleeting Hour" (Lee), and "At Dawning" (Caden). As the bridal party approached the altar Lohengrin's Wedding March was played, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used as a recessional.

A reception, attended by 40 guests, was held at Degenhardt's, Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Ward will reside in the Southern states. They will sail from Baltimore, Md., on Tuesday.

Noted Speakers Address Red Cross Workers of County

Continued from Page One

support it, work for it, and inspire it to new efforts.

"The Red Cross policies of relief have been worked out over the years through actual experience of its workers in the field. In simple terms, relief is given on the basis of need of the sufferers—not of losses. Loans are never made—relief is a gift from the Red Cross in the name of its members and the people of the United States.

"The Red Cross is enabled to handle vast relief projects through the volunteer help of thousands of men and women, and through its ability to borrow trained workers from other agencies, such as the Coast Guard, Sea Scouts, the army and navy, and state militias, for the period of its emergency. Disaster service has a very small trained staff, and can draw from other services of the Red Cross a limited number of trained workers who are assigned to supervise operations.

"And every dollar contributed for disaster relief is accounted for to the Congress of the United States through a War Department audit as are all other Red Cross finances.

"But in the end," Miss Caldwell pointed out, "we are simply your agents and do as you command. Your branch interest keeps us going and makes it possible for us to do the work that is being done."

The speaker told the group that the Red Cross is not only concerned with the immediate relief of a disaster section, but that the main duty is the aiding and rehabilitation of families to get back to their normal ways of living.

"The first problem of the Red Cross following a disaster is that of personnel, according to Miss Caldwell. The personnel of the National Agency are selected first and then the reserve disaster staff members. The third line of defense consists of the chapter workers, and the fourth group are workers from other agencies.

"Our emergency work is carried on on an emergency basis—and it is the volunteers from the different branches who carry the burden of this work," Miss Caldwell stated.

"The Red Cross does not discriminate in religion, race or political creed, and delinquency or immorality does not preclude a person from Red Cross aid in a disaster if he needs it."

Then speaking of the Spring floods of this year Miss Caldwell said they gave the Red Cross its greatest challenge since the World War. "But the people of the country came through with 8 million dollars, and this was an expression of the confidence of the people in the work of the Red Cross."

The speaker also related some interesting experiences of her work in Wilkes-Barre. After the flood had subsided 143 case workers were brought there under the direction of Miss Caldwell who divided the territory for the group. Several case studies were mentioned. Miss Caldwell praised highly the work of the Coast Guard and the Sea Scouts in the relief work at Wilkes-Barre.

Mrs. Allen spoke of the flood conditions in Pittsburgh where she was stationed during the Spring floods, and like Miss Caldwell, she praised the wonderful effectiveness with which the Red Cross carried on its task of disaster relief.

In a Personal Way

INTERESTING bits of news mainly about people you know. A chronicle of the activities of the people of Bristol; their goings and comings. : : :

Events for Tonight

Card party by American Legion Auxiliary, at Bracken Post home. Dance at Croydon Fire House by the Criterion Club.

ATTENDS SESSION

Mrs. Mary Heaton, Washington street, attended the board of directors meeting at the Home for Orphans of Odd Fellows, Philadelphia, Friday evening, and spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Berry, Willow Grove, Pa.

OUT OF THE BOROUGH

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fitzgerald and family, 323 Roosevelt street, left Friday for Winchester, Mass., where they remained until today with relatives.

Miss Anna Archer, 136 Mill street, spent the week-end as guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Ghee, Oak Lane.

Miss Margaret Allen, 639 New Buckley street, spent Thursday until Sunday in Trenton, N. J., visiting Mrs. Dorothy Worth.

The Misses Arlene and Verna Woolman, Locust street, are spending Monday and Tuesday visiting the Misses Alita and Gladys Smith, Oakmont.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy G. Ford, Jackson street, passed Saturday and Sunday in Pennington, N. J., as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Koske.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Williams, 326 Wood street, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright, 2018 Trenton avenue, spent Saturday and Sunday in Newark, N. J., visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Eisfeld; and also William Williams, Farmingdale, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. MacMullen, Howard MacMullen and Miss Anna McDonnell, Mill street, and Clarence MacMullen of the "S. S. Republic," enjoyed the week-end in Seaside Heights, N. J.

Mrs. Harry Sasse and daughter Mary

Frances, 629 Pine street, spent three days last week visiting relatives in New York.

Miss Clara Lerman, 307 Washington street, spent Friday until Sunday with Miss Alice Wener, Pottsville, who is visiting in Philadelphia.

AT SHORE POINT

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hardy, Harrison street, and Mrs. Marie B. Flagg, 251 Madison street, were visitors of Miss Frances Flagg, Atlantic City, N. J., last week. Miss Frances Flagg spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Marie B. Flagg.

ARE GUESTS AT LOCAL HOMES

Mrs. Nicholas Reed and son Elwood, and Harold Coon, Scranton, spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Coon, Jefferson avenue.

Miss Katherine Callahan, Yeadon, spent three days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Armstrong, Sr., Jefferson avenue. Joseph Armstrong, Staten Island, who is spending his vacation with his parents, also spent several days last week in Philadelphia visiting Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McCafferty.

Mrs. Edward Bewley, Wissinoming, and Mr. and Mrs. George Leigh, Hanover, were visitors the latter part of the week of Mrs. Horace Young, Cedar street.

Mrs. Sara Bylone, Mrs. Sara Connelly, Philadelphia; and Miss Betty Redin, New York City, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Connelly, 348 Jefferson avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Craig, Harrisonville, Mo., who have been spending the past two months with their son, Dr. W. E. Craig, 311 Radcliffe street, have moved to their new home in Mayfair. Dr. Craig, who has been residing at 311 Radcliffe street, has moved to Mayfair with his parents.

HAVE A DAUGHTER
Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Scheffey, Jr., Harrison street, are the parents of a daughter born Friday in Dr. Wagner's Hospital. Mrs. Scheffey was formerly Miss Genevieve Green.

18TH BIRTHDAY OF MISS E. FENNIMORE MARKED BY A PARTY

Miss Elizabeth Fennimore celebrated her 18th birthday when a surprise party was tendered by friends Saturday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fennimore, 130 Buckley street.

The evening was spent playing cards and dancing. Refreshments were served.

Those present: the Misses Margaret Kelly, Sarah Swank, Mary Robinson, Charlotte Smith, Ida Silbert, Edgely; Messrs. John Van Siver, Fred Van Siver, Sr., Jack Price, Alfred Burger, Frank Fennimore; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. William Carnes and children, Frances and Ryle.

TRANSFERS OF REAL ESTATE

Buckingham—Clarence O. Watkins, et ux, to Herman S. Mills et al, lot. New Britain—Kate D. Conard to Charles L. Miller et al, lot, $2300.

Millford—Trustees of Otto H. Strouse to Mary A. Strouse, 3 acres. Bedminster—Vincenzo Martino et al to Irene Meierhans, lot.

Upper Makefield—William Thron to Carl De Long et ux, 56 acres, 15 perches.

Springfield—Exrs. and trustees of Tilgman S. Cooper to John Hafner, Jr., 76 acres, 115 perches.

COMING EVENTS

Organizations whose announcements are printed in this column can reciprocate by having all printing in connection with announced events done by the publishers of this paper.

Oct. 23—Card party by Edgely Girl Scouts in Dick's Hall, Edgely. Meeting of young Americans of East Bristol Township in Republican headquarters, 218 Mill street, at eight o'clock.

Oct. 24—Baked ham supper by Ladies Aid Society in Cornwells M. E. Church auditorium, 5 to 8 p. m.

Hallowe'en dance by Ladies' Aid at Newport Road Community Chapel basement.

Bingo party at Croydon Methodist Church.

October 24 and 25—Horse show on Laing Estate, Newport Road, benefit of Harriman Hospital.

October 26—Card party by Ladies' Rainbow Club at home of Mrs. Robert Smith, Main street, Croydon.

Croydon Firemen's Auxiliary's masked ball.

October 28—Hallowe'en social in Dick's hall, Edgely, by Edgely School Ass'n.

Oct. 31—Annual chicken supper of William Penn Fire Co. at Hulmeville fire station.

Nov. 1—Party at headquarters of Union Republican Club, Croydon.

Nov. 6—Card party and radio party in the parish house of the Church of the Redeemer, Andalusia.

Nov. 7—Annual chicken supper at Christ Church, Edgely, 5.30 to 8 p. m.

Nov. 14—Annual chicken supper of Cornwells Fire Co., No. 1, in St. Charles Hall, Cornwells Heights.

Nov. 18—Turkey supper by St. Agnes' Guild at the Church of the Redeemer, Andalusia, in the parish house.

Nov. 21—Annual supper in Hulmeville Methodist Church, 5 to 8 p. m.

Annual dance of Alumni Association, in Bensalem Township High School Auditorium.

December 5—Turkey supper by Mothers' Guild of St. James' Church, in the parish house, from 5.30 to 7.30.

DON'T SLEEP ON LEFT SIDE—AFFECTS HEART

If stomach GAS prevents sleeping on right side try Adlerika. One dose brings out poisons and relieves gas pressing on heart so you sleep soundly all night. While they last, SPECIAL 10c trial sizes on sale at Dries' Cut Rate Drug Store.—(Advertisement.)

GRAND Monday and Tuesday

Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers in "SWING TIME"

With Victor Moore, Helen Broderick, Eric Blore

See These Stars Dance in the Swing-Time Waltz

Cartoon Comedy—Educational—New Events

Coming Wednesday—Ladies' Free Gift Night "HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD"

ANNOUNCING CASTANEA IRRADIATED VITAMIN-D-MILK

The Greatest Advance in Milk Production Since Pasteurization

WHAT IRRADIATED VITAMIN D MILK IS:

Vitamin D Milk is fresh pasteurized milk with its Vitamin D content increased by exposing a thin film of milk to the ultra-violet rays of a carbon arc lamp.* No foreign substance is added to the milk. Its flavor is unchanged. The other vitamins are not affected. But the extra Vitamin D assures the fullest use by the body of the calcium and phosphorus that milk supplies.

WHAT IRRADIATED VITAMIN D MILK DOES:

It is this combination of calcium, phosphorus and Vitamin D in one food that makes Irradiated Vitamin D Milk a definite contribution to improved nutrition. It assures babies freedom from rickets. (Clinical experiments have proved the prescribed amount of Irradiated Vitamin D Milk is a complete anti-rachitic.) It offers people of all ages an aid in the development and maintenance of sound teeth. (Sound teeth depend on proper and adequate nutrition and oral hygiene. Vitamin D Milk provides food essentials they need.)

Here is no new diet fad—or expensive addition to your diet—but the first essential of a balanced diet, MILK, given added power by the extra Vitamin D. Try this new milk for two months—it has a real place in the diet of every member of your family.

THE COST? Just 1c additional a quart on each grade of milk.

*Castanea's Vitamin D Milk is irradiated with ultra-violet rays under license by the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation under the Steenbock patent (U. S. Patent No. 1680818).

ON SALE TODAY

For Delivery in Bristol and Vicinity from Bristol Call Trenton 10390
We Pay Toll Charges

ASK YOUR DOCTOR FOR HIS OPINION OF THIS NEW MILK

NOW!
RADIO'S NEWEST MARVEL
GE Focused Tone
REVOLUTIONIZES RADIO TUNING...
Automatically Assures PERFECT TONE!

YOU'LL be fascinated when you see the GE Colorama Dial of this new Focused Tone radio flash from red to brilliant green as you dial your station—easily assuring you that your radio is in Perfect Focused Tone. But you'll get an even greater thrill when you listen to the whole new range of tones brought to you for the first time by GE FOCUSED TONE RADIO!

DOUBLE TRADE-IN
FREE HOME TRIAL
EASIEST TERMS

Other New GE's from $22.50 up!

GE MODEL E-95 Focused Tone Radio
Colorama Dial, Scentry Box, Sliding scale Tuning, Scale, 12-inch Stabilized Dynamic Speaker, Music-Speech control, Bass and Treble Compensation, 9-Metal Tubes, 3-Band Tuning Ranges, Standard Broadcasts, Police Calls, Aviation, Amateurs, International Short-wave, Auto. 8-15 Watts, Automatic Volume Control, 16 Watts Output.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
Focused Tone Radio

FREE HOME TRIAL

PROFY'S RADIO SHOP
211 MILL STREET PHONE 552

Radio Patrol

EDDIE SULLIVAN
and CHARLIE SCHMIDT

Classified Advertising Department

Announcements

Funeral Directors

UNDERTAKER—William I. Murphy, Estate, 316 Jefferson avenue, Bristol, Pa., phone 2417.

Strayed, Lost, Found

LOST—Male rabbit hound, black and white spots, License No. 9872. Reward. M. Ardizzone, Green Lane & Farragut avenue.

Automotive

Automobiles for Sale

CHEVROLET—Ford, Olds and Nash sedan, Nash Dealer, 341 Jefferson avenue.

Business Service

Business Services Offered

PAPERHANGING—J. T. Hinchliffe & Son, Bristol, R. F. D. No. 2, Phone 3059.

Building and Contracting

ELECTRICAL WORK—Motors and lighting, ranges, heaters. George P. Bailey, Bath Rd., Bristol. Dial 7125.

Laundering

MEN'S LAUNDRY—Wanted, Washing and ironing. Apply 916 Wood street, Bristol.

Employment

Help Wanted—Female

WOMAN—For general housework, white, under 35. Sleep in. Good wages. Mrs. George H. Thomas, Cornwells Hts., ph. Cornwells 161.

CHRISTMAS CARDS—100% profit selling marvelous 21 folder $1 assortment. Gift wrappings, everyday; personals. Experience unnecessary. Request samples. Rainbow, 15AA Park Row, New York.

CHRISTMAS CARD SENSATION—Bigger profits selling finest 21 folder $1 assortment. Latest double foils, parchments, mother-pearls, embossings. Request samples. Doebla, Fitchburg 731, Mass.

100% PROFITS—Selling magnificent $1 assortment 21 Christmas folders. Newest features. Gift wrappings, everyday. Experience unnecessary. Bonuses. Free sample only. Schwer, 1019 Westfield, Mass.

Financial

Money to Loan—Mortgages

I HAVE FUNDS—For investment in good first mortgages on desirable dwellings in Bristol and vicinity, both Building and Loan plan and Straight Mortgage plan. Reasonable charges. Francis J. Byers, 409 Radcliffe street, Bristol.

Live Stock

Dogs, Cats, Other Pets

BEAGLE DOG—Male, ped., 2 years old, broken. Irish setter, female, partly broken. H. Richardson, c/o J. R. Williams Farm, Durham Rd., R. D. 1.

Merchandise

Articles for Sale

GAS COIL—For hot water. Reasonable. Inquire 1917 Wilson Avenue.

Good Things To Eat

GROCERIES—Lunch meat and produce. A share of your patronage will be appreciated. William A. Mohre, 160 Otter street.

Real Estate for Rent

Business Places for Rent

STORE & DWELLING—238 Mill St., across from 5 and 10c store. Rent reasonable. Call 2349.

Houses for Rent

FINE DWELLING—In Bath Road section, entirely remodelled, like new, 6 rooms and bath, all conveniences, 3 enclosed porches, garage, work-shop, chicken-house, large lot, rent $32. An extremely desirable property. Francis J. Byers, 409 Radcliffe St.

BUSINESS

FUNERAL DIRECTOR

No Charge for Use of Funeral Home

HARVEY S. RUE EST.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

314 CEDAR ST. PHONE 617

Robert C. Ruehl, Suc.

PHILA. EXPRESS

DAILY TRIPS

FARRUGGIO'S EXPRESS

901 MANSION ST. DIAL 3953

Philadelphia: 7 N. Front St.

Phone Market 3548

Read

The Courier
Classified Ads
Regularly

Football, Basketball, Boxing, Wrestling, Bowling and Other Sporting Events Are Featured Daily For The Local Follower and Lover of Sport

BENSALEM HIGH SCORES VICTORY OVER PEMBERTON

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 19.—The Bensalem boys added another victory to their credit Saturday when they whipped Pemberton to the tune of 27-8. They went to work on the New Jersey boys in the first period, rolling up the score to 14-0, with Harold Robinson making the first touchdown by running the ball over from the 12-yard line. Capt. Joe Wilk ran the extra point and Bob Lange came in with the second touchdown, catching a pass and making a thrilling run of 45 yards. Robinson kicked the point.

In the second period neither team scored, but in the third period the Bensalem boys took up the march and Wilk came in with the third touchdown on a lateral pass from the ten-yard line. Lange crossed the Pemberton goal line again, adding six more points, and Tom Adams dropped back from the line to kick the extra point, making the score 27-0 at the end of the third period.

The last quarter saw no further scoring for the Bensalem boys, but the Pemberton boys rallied with several nice gains throwing Robinson for a safety. Platt, Pemberton's halfback caught a pass and ran 20 yards for their only touchdown.

Line-up:

Bensalem	Pemberton
Adams	McDowell
Swadis	(Capt.) A. Fort
Marshall	Parker
Abbott	Fieldson
Faust	Hopkins
Carter	Carr
Junghans	Nixon
Lange	Sprowel
Scarborough	Mahan
Wilk (Capt.)	Platt
H. Robinson	Lewis

Score by periods:
 Bensalem..... 14 0 13 0-27
 Pemberton..... 0 0 0 8-8
 Referee: Morgan, Bloomsburg.
 Umpire: Beck, Muhlenburg.
 Linesman: Diamanti, Muhlenburg.

QUINN IS HIGH IN THE EDGELY WEEKLY SHOOT

EDGELY, Oct. 19.—The Edgely Rod and Gun Club held its shoot yesterday with a large gathering and many fine scores: William Quinn, Tullytown, first; Peach, of Langhorne, second; and Harry McLaughlin, third.

There will be a meeting of the Rod and Gun Club tonight in Dick's Hall at eight o'clock. This being the last meeting before the hunting season opens, there will be many discussions on the laws of the coming season.

EDGELY

Mrs. Anna Minkema, Whitinsville, Mass., was the guest of Mrs. Dirk Minkema over the week-end.

Guests of Mrs. Frank Greenwood over the week-end were: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McNeer and son, Passaic, N. J.; Joseph Henry, Pitt N. N. J.; Mrs. Peter Herrick, Passaic; and Mrs. Fred Greenwood, East Rutherford, N. Y.

Mrs. John Evans entertained Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Loughman and family, of Scranton, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carroll and daughter Margaret, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry McGrath, Langhorne, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Haber, of Holmesburg.

Courier Classified Ads. are profitable, yet economical; try one and be convinced!

They Are All Around You, Mr. President

Green, president of the A. F. of L., characterized Gold as "A NOTORIOUS COMMUNIST."

3—THE CITY PROJECTS COUNCIL.—This is a body of relief workers so unquestionably UNDER RED CONTROL that it has been denounced by Mr. Roosevelt's own appointee, Victor F. Ridder, as a COMMUNIST ORGANIZATION.

It has been the arm of the COMMUNIST PARTY in all of the radical relief demonstrations in New York of the last fourteen months. Its president is Willis F. Morgan.

A recent survey made by the American Writers Association, a body of non-radical white collar relief workers, revealed the fact that the 9,000 members of the City Projects Council are completely controlled by AN INNER CIRCLE OF 450 COMMUNIST PARTY MEMBERS who hold all of the key offices in the organization.

It is only fair to Mr. Roosevelt to assume that he was perhaps unaware of the membership of these Communist groups in the American Labor Party when he accepted its nomination for the Presidency.

But now that the facts are in the open, he must act.

The American people cannot accept the lofty anti-Communist position of the President in his Syracuse speech as long as he is unprotestingly accepting the support of Ben Gold, Louis Weinstock and Willis F. Morgan in the American Labor Party.

The least that he can do is to insist that Mrs. Herrick, to whom he has granted a leave of absence to head the American Labor Party, should quickly purge the party of its Soviet members.

To do less would be to brand himself as unthinkably insincere in his ringing protestation of anti-Communism.

THE NEXT MOVE IS THE PRESIDENT'S.

ANDALUSIA SCORES OVER WARRINGTON XI, 19-6

ANDALUSIA, Oct. 19.—Taking advantage of every possible break, the Green Wave defeated the unbeaten but tied Warrington A. C., to the merry tune of 19-6.

Mope Wilkins, the A. A. A. plunging halfback, broke the ice in the first quarter by running through the entire orange and black team for 70 yards and a touchdown. Earl Wilkins' placement kick was wide by miles. Undaunted by Andalusia's initial score the boys from Warrington opened up their attack and in a very short order, J. Quick, former star of Northeast Catholic High, galloped around end for 30 yards and a touchdown. The placement barely missed.

There must have been plenty said to the Andalusians during the half, for Joe Diamanti's boys came out in the third period and in seven plays Mope Wilkins scored his second touchdown of the game. This time a beautiful end-around play with pretty blocking by Vogel, H. Wilkins and Nield gave the triple A their second touchdown. Again E. Wilkins' placement was wide.

The third period was about half over when Earl Wilkins intercepted Warrington's pass and by beautiful broken field running scored the third and final touchdown of the game. D. Lukens place-kicked for the extra point, making the score 19-6.

During the final period Coach Diamanti had his entire second team in action and the boys more than held their own.

For Andalusia, H. Wilkins, Vogel, Trummer and E. Wilkins stood out; while Quick, Vern, and Gooch shone for Warrington.

St Ann's Loses Opening Game By One Point

Continued from Page One

on the St. Ann's twenty-seven yard line with Lange holding the pigskin on the catch from center, Wibble booted the ball over the crossbar to the right of the uprights for a perfect field goal. This was the only score of the invaders.

However, the three-pointer wiped out a 2-0 lead garnered by the home club early in the second period when a bad pass from center enabled a Green Jacket player to be tackled beyond the goal line by wingman Paul Niccol.

In chalking up the first downs, the Bristol eleven was to the fore, 7-4, but the localites' downs meant very little because four of these came in the second half in which the Saints had their backs leaning against their own goal line most of the time. In the final session, Dittman reached the five yard line of the Bristolians but try as they would could not reach Touchdown-land.

Both clubs exhibited plenty of deception in their playing. They were evenly-matched and played clean football throughout. It was the best fray played on the local gridiron this season and pleased the fans from the opening whistle.

The St. Ann's defeat can also be attributed to the failure of the receivers to catch passes thrown to them. No fewer than six times a receiver had his mitts on the oval and then dropped it. Completion of any of these aerials would have put the Doughertymen in a better position to score.

The invaders started out as if to make short work of the locals. After receiving the kick-off they ripped off two consecutive first downs before the resident club could get their bearings. But St. Ann's held and forced Dittman to boot to the fifteen yard line. On the first play, Zeffries received good interference to trample over two crossbars and a first down. Sagolla then crossed the Dittman team by rifling an aerial with Zeffries on the receiving end. The play netted eighteen more yards. After two more plays, the St. Ann's streak ended by Domico intercepting a forward pass at midfield.

The visitors received a break before the quarter end when Zeffries fumbled a kick and it was recovered by Dittman on the Saints' 35 yard line. However after two plays, Niccols intercepted a pass to give St. Ann's possession of the oval.

A quick kick brought the ball to Dittman six yard line where they attempted to run it out. The pass from center was bad and the ball rolled beyond the goal line. Before Lange could pick it up to run, he was hit by Niccols for a St. Ann's two-pointer.

Two bad passes from center-man Cy Kantor put the St. Ann's team in a hold later in the period and a poor kick only travelled to their own thirty yard line. Three plays put the oval in a position straight with the goal posts and it was from here that Wibble place-kicked the field goal.

The third period was mostly an exchange of punts with Dittman getting two first downs to no avail. However, at the start of the final period, a kick of Joe Conti's was blocked on the forty yard line and rolled back to the St. Ann's five. Dittman had four tries to gain the necessary yardage but the St. Ann's eleven stiffened and prevented a count.

They booted out of danger temporarily but the kick only travelled to the fifteen yard line where Dittman carried it to the six yard line. Again the St. Ann's forward wall braced and held. Instead of kicking out of danger, time was growing short, and so the St. Ann's decided on trick plays. It netted them three consecutive first downs. But they were too far in their own territory to do any damage.

St. Ann's will travel to Doylestown to play the Doylestown Moose next Sunday.

Line-ups:

St. Ann's	Dittman
Niccols	J. Cirruti
Neindorff	J. Shields
J. Baker	Rupp
Brown	Hoffman
Dyer	Mallon
R. Baker	G. Domico

Caro..... right end Amick
 Sagolla..... quarterback F. Domico
 Tosti..... left halfback Cannon
 Zeffries..... right halfback Lange
 Conti..... fullback Melchior

Periods:
 St. Ann's..... 0 2 0 0-2
 Dittman..... 0 3 0 0-3
 Safety: St. Ann's.
 Field goal: Wibble.
 Substitutions: St. Ann's—Angelo, Liberty, Gallagher, Denny, Ross, Jeffries, McGee, Breslin, VanHoveton, Bono, Kantor, Dittman—Akers, Bullett, Omera, Wibble, G. Domico, Monaco.

Referee: Orazi.
 Umpire: J. Roe.
 Head linesman: Rupp.
 Time of periods: 15 minutes.

HULMEVILLE

The meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of William Penn Fire Company at eight o'clock tonight in the fire station, will be in form of a Halloween party. Each member is privileged to invite a guest. There will be a slight charge of admission for those who do not mask. Games and refreshments will add to the evening's enjoyment.

The tenth anniversary of the Peppy Pals sewing class was marked by the members Saturday evening. Dinner at Washington Crossing Inn was followed by a theatre party. Participants included: Mrs. Walter Jackson, Mrs. C. Wesley Haefner; the Misses Marie Hanson, Mary Thompson, Myrtle Egly, Adeline E. Reetz, and Elma E. Haefner. Guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wesley Haefner were Mr. and Mrs. William Kelley, Providence, Md. Mrs. Kelley is remaining for a week's visit.

BATH ROAD

Mrs. G. Weger is very ill at her home with pneumonia.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Richlandtown—Heirs of Milton B. Kline to Lena Weller, lots, $4800.
 Middletown—Rose Wager to Robert J. Whately, lot.
 Perkaskie—Trustees of Jesse K. Gulick to First National Bank of Perkaskie, lots.
 Buckingham—Doylestown National Bank and Trust Company to Clarence A. Watkins, et ux, lot.

Crawl Into War-Torn Towns for Baptisms

Continued from Page One

fully, almost ecstatically delighted as the two mothers, one old grandmother and three other old women.

Both babies were boys, one named Isidor, one named Daniel. The chaplain, Padre Don Juan Calan Bermejo, seemed to be pleased at having something to do besides administer extreme unction.

The padre is a popular man with the troops and with the officers. He always sits next to the major at table, and everybody kids him in a good natured way about his priestly life. It is interesting to observe that many of the legionnaires, tough as they are, are practising Catholics and certainly 99 per cent of them want the priest when they come to die.

Major Castejon, his staff, orderlies, guard, everybody pulled out for the front at about 10 o'clock in the morning, and to our intense disappointment, told us we could only follow tomorrow. So there we were left in a deserted house, in what amounted to a dejected village, for between the time the major left, and the time a battalion of Phalangists, or Fascists, arrived in the evening, there was not a soldier in the place.

THIS DATE IN NEWS OF PAST

Monday, October 19
 Compiled by Clark Kinnaird
 (Copyright, 1936, by I. N. S.)

1765—Declaration of rights was proclaimed by "Stamp Act" Congress in New York, first convention of the American colonies.

1781—British Army of Cornwallis was surrendered to the French-American allied Army of Washington at York and Gloucester, Va.

1864—Maj.-Gen. Philip Sheridan's 20-mile ride through the Shenandoah Valley turned a Federal defeat into a victory.

1921—Murder of two women in Phoenix, Ariz., by Miss Winnie Ruth Judd, was discovered in Los Angeles.

He didn't do anything to keep the big pig out of the wheat granary. The old man evidently had reached the stage where he thought there wasn't any use trying to patch things up. Yet his house was comparatively intact. It was not utterly smashed the way most of them were.

The women of the household who also gradually crept in during the day thought there was plenty of use in trying to start over again. They scrubbed and washed all day long. The soldiers of the Legion had collected for the major's staff use crockery from a score of ruined houses and the women here now washed all that up. They had three big clothes baskets loaded with crockery and I wondered what a time they were going to have re-distributing all of it to the owners. Then old man Ramos told us what it was that put that haunted look in his eyes. It wasn't the fact that he had spent eight nights sleeping in the fields with his family to escape the Reds. It wasn't the damage to his property. It was just that the Reds had taken his eighteen-year-old son and the son hadn't come back.

The old man looked off at the horizon and said "The boy didn't have no interest in politics. He was just a hard-working boy, studying to be a pharmacist. Don't see why they had to take him."

The old man went down the village road, his shoulders drooping.

We had to fix our own dinner that night and made a stew by cutting up a can of salmon with the big sweet Spanish onions, peppers and tomatoes. We cooked it over an open fire in one of the huge kitchen's fireplaces. Aside from the fact we put too much salt in it and that it ought to have cooked another hour, it was fine.

We went to bed early to get up at dawn and catch up with Major Castejon.

So we spent the day watching the population return to their ruined houses. Mournful old man Ramos, owner of the house we were living in, arrived on the scene and it was pitiful to see him walking through room after room, picking up little bits of wrecked furniture.

We sat in the shade in front of the house and every now and then old man Ramos would come out of the house and show us a fragment of an old cabinet, a smashed clock, or a broken chair. The old man seemed to be in a daze.

He didn't do anything to keep the big pig out of the wheat granary. The old man evidently had reached the stage where he thought there wasn't any use trying to patch things up. Yet his house was comparatively intact. It was not utterly smashed the way most of them were.

The women of the household who also gradually crept in during the day thought there was plenty of use in trying to start over again. They scrubbed and washed all day long. The soldiers of the Legion had collected for the major's staff use crockery from a score of ruined houses and the women here now washed all that up. They had three big clothes baskets loaded with crockery and I wondered what a time they were going to have re-distributing all of it to the owners. Then old man Ramos told us what it was that put that haunted look in his eyes. It wasn't the fact that he had spent eight nights sleeping in the fields with his family to escape the Reds. It wasn't the damage to his property. It was just that the Reds had taken his eighteen-year-old son and the son hadn't come back.

The old man looked off at the horizon and said "The boy didn't have no interest in politics. He was just a hard-working boy, studying to be a pharmacist. Don't see why they had to take him."

The old man went down the village road, his shoulders drooping.

We had to fix our own dinner that night and made a stew by cutting up a can of salmon with the big sweet Spanish onions, peppers and tomatoes. We cooked it over an open fire in one of the huge kitchen's fireplaces. Aside from the fact we put too much salt in it and that it ought to have cooked another hour, it was fine.

We went to bed early to get up at dawn and catch up with Major Castejon.

So we spent the day watching the population return to their ruined houses. Mournful old man Ramos, owner of the house we were living in, arrived on the scene and it was pitiful to see him walking through room after room, picking up little bits of wrecked furniture.

We sat in the shade in front of the house and every now and then old man Ramos would come out of the house and show us a fragment of an old cabinet, a smashed clock, or a broken chair. The old man seemed to be in a daze.

He didn't do anything to keep the big pig out of the wheat granary. The old man evidently had reached the stage where he thought there wasn't any use trying to patch things up. Yet his house was comparatively intact. It was not utterly smashed the way most of them were.

The women of the household who also gradually crept in during the day thought there was plenty of use in trying to start over again. They scrubbed and washed all day long. The soldiers of the Legion had collected for the major's staff use crockery from a score of ruined houses and the women here now washed all that up. They had three big clothes baskets loaded with crockery and I wondered what a time they were going to have re-distributing all of it to the owners. Then old man Ramos told us what it was that put that haunted look in his eyes. It wasn't the fact that he had spent eight nights sleeping in the fields with his family to escape the Reds. It wasn't the damage to his property. It was just that the Reds had taken his eighteen-year-old son and the son hadn't come back.

The old man looked off at the horizon and said "The boy didn't have no interest in politics. He was just a hard-working boy, studying to be a pharmacist. Don't see why they had to take him."

The old man went down the village road, his shoulders drooping.

We had to fix our own dinner that night and made a stew by cutting up a can of salmon with the big sweet Spanish onions, peppers and tomatoes. We cooked it over an open fire in one of the huge kitchen's fireplaces. Aside from the fact we put too much salt in it and that it ought to have cooked another hour, it was fine.

We went to bed early to get up at dawn and catch up with Major Castejon.

So we spent the day watching the population return to their ruined houses. Mournful old man Ramos, owner of the house we were living in, arrived on the scene and it was pitiful to see him walking through room after room, picking up little bits of wrecked furniture.

We sat in the shade in front of the house and every now and then old man Ramos would come out of the house and show us a fragment of an old cabinet, a smashed clock, or a broken chair. The old man seemed to be in a daze.

He didn't do anything to keep the big pig out of the wheat granary. The old man evidently had reached the stage where he thought there wasn't any use trying to patch things up. Yet his house was comparatively intact. It was not utterly smashed the way most of them were.

The women of the household who also gradually crept in during the day thought there was plenty of use in trying to start over again. They scrubbed and washed all day long. The soldiers of the Legion had collected for the major's staff use crockery from a score of ruined houses and the women here now washed all that up. They had three big clothes baskets loaded with crockery and I wondered what a time they were going to have re-distributing all of it to the owners. Then old man Ramos told us what it was that put that haunted look in his eyes. It wasn't the fact that he had spent eight nights sleeping in the fields with his family to escape the Reds. It wasn't the damage to his property. It was just that the Reds had taken his eighteen-year-old son and the son hadn't come back.

The old man looked off at the horizon and said "The boy didn't have no interest in politics. He was just a hard-working boy, studying to be a pharmacist. Don't see why they had to take him."

The old man went down the village road, his shoulders drooping.

We had to fix our own dinner that night and made a stew by cutting up a can of salmon with the big sweet Spanish onions, peppers and tomatoes. We cooked it over an open fire in one of the huge kitchen's fireplaces. Aside from the fact we put too much salt in it and that it ought to have cooked another hour, it was fine.

We went to bed early to get up at dawn and catch up with Major Castejon.

So we spent the day watching the population return to their ruined houses. Mournful old man Ramos, owner of the house we were living in, arrived on the scene and it was pitiful to see him walking through room after room, picking up little bits of wrecked furniture.

We sat in the shade in front of the house and every now and then old man Ramos would come out of the house and show us a fragment of an old cabinet, a smashed clock, or a broken chair. The old man seemed to be in a daze.

He didn't do anything to keep the big pig out of the wheat granary. The old man evidently had reached the stage where he thought there wasn't any use trying to patch things up. Yet his house was comparatively intact. It was not utterly smashed the way most of them were.

The women of the household who also gradually crept in during the day thought there was plenty of use in trying to start over again. They scrubbed and washed all day long. The soldiers of the Legion had collected for the major's staff use crockery from a score of ruined houses and the women here now washed all that up. They had three big clothes baskets loaded with crockery and I wondered what a time they were going to have re-distributing all of it to the owners. Then old man Ramos told us what it was that put that haunted look in his eyes. It wasn't the fact that he had spent eight nights sleeping in the fields with his family to escape the Reds. It wasn't the damage to his property. It was just that the Reds had taken his eighteen-year-old son and the son hadn't come back.

The old man looked off at the horizon and said "The boy didn't have no interest in politics. He was just a hard-working boy, studying to be a pharmacist. Don't see why they had to take him."

The old man went down the village road, his shoulders drooping.

We had to fix our own dinner that night and made a stew by cutting up a can of salmon with the big sweet Spanish onions, peppers and tomatoes. We cooked it over an open fire in one of the huge kitchen's fireplaces. Aside from the fact we put too much salt in it and that it ought to have cooked another hour, it was fine.

We went to bed early to get up at dawn and catch up with Major Castejon.

So we spent the day watching the population return to their ruined houses. Mournful old man Ramos, owner of the house we were living in, arrived on the scene and it was pitiful to see him walking through room after room, picking up little bits of wrecked furniture.

We sat in the shade in front of the house and every now and then old man Ramos would come out of the house and show us a fragment of an old cabinet, a smashed clock, or a broken chair. The old man seemed to be in a daze.

He didn't do anything to keep the big pig out of the wheat granary. The old man evidently had reached the stage where he thought there wasn't any use trying to patch things up. Yet his house was comparatively intact. It was not utterly smashed the way most of them were.

The women of the household who also gradually crept in during the day thought there was plenty of use in trying to start over again. They scrubbed and washed all day long. The soldiers of the Legion had collected for the major's staff use crockery from a score of ruined houses and the women here now washed all that up. They had three big clothes baskets loaded with crockery and I wondered what a time they were going to have re-distributing all of it to the owners. Then old man Ramos told us what it was that put that haunted look in his eyes. It wasn't the fact that he had spent eight nights sleeping in the fields with his family to escape the Reds. It wasn't the damage to his property. It was just that the Reds had taken his eighteen-year-old son and the son hadn't come back.

The old man looked off at the horizon and said "The boy didn't have no interest in politics. He was just a hard-working boy, studying to be a pharmacist. Don't see why they had to take him."

The old man went down the village road, his shoulders drooping.

We had to fix our own dinner that night and made a stew by cutting up a can of salmon with the big sweet Spanish onions, peppers and tomatoes. We cooked it over an open fire in one of the huge kitchen's fireplaces. Aside from the fact we put too much salt in it and that it ought to have cooked another hour, it was fine.

We went to bed early to get up at dawn and catch up with Major Castejon.

So we spent the day watching the population return to their ruined houses. Mournful old man Ramos, owner of the house we were living in, arrived on the scene and it was pitiful to see him walking through room after room, picking up little bits of wrecked furniture.

We sat in the shade in front of the house and every now and then old man Ramos would come out of the house and show us a fragment of an old cabinet, a smashed clock, or a broken chair. The old man seemed to be in a daze.

He didn't do anything to keep the big pig out of the wheat granary. The old man evidently had reached the stage where he thought there wasn't any use trying to patch things up. Yet his house was comparatively intact. It was not utterly smashed the way most of them were.

The women of the household who also gradually crept in during the day thought there was plenty of use in trying to start over again. They scrubbed and washed all day long. The soldiers of the Legion had collected for the major's staff use crockery from a score of ruined houses and the women here now washed all that up. They had three big clothes baskets loaded with crockery and I wondered what a time they were going to have re-distributing all of it to the owners. Then old man Ramos told us what it was that put that haunted look in his eyes. It wasn't the fact that he had spent eight nights sleeping in the fields with his family to escape the Reds. It wasn't the damage to his property. It was just that the Reds had taken his eighteen-year-old son and the son hadn't come back.

The old man looked off at the horizon and said "The boy didn't have no interest in politics. He was just a hard-working boy, studying to be a pharmacist. Don't see why they had to take him."

The old man went down the village road, his shoulders drooping.

We had to fix our own dinner that night and made a stew by cutting up a can of salmon with the big sweet Spanish onions, peppers and tomatoes. We cooked it over an open fire in one of the huge kitchen's fireplaces. Aside from the fact we put too much salt in it and that it ought to have cooked another hour, it was fine.

We went to bed early to get up at dawn and catch up with Major Castejon.

So we spent the day watching the population return to their ruined houses. Mournful old man Ramos, owner of the house we were living in, arrived on the scene and it was pitiful to see him walking through room after room, picking up little bits of wrecked furniture.

We sat in the shade in front of the house and every now and then old man Ramos would come out of the house and show us a fragment of an old cabinet, a smashed clock, or a broken chair. The old man seemed to be in a daze.

He didn't do anything to keep the big pig out of the wheat granary. The old man evidently had reached the stage where he thought there wasn't any use trying to patch things up. Yet his house was comparatively intact. It was not utterly smashed the way most of them were.

The women of the household who also gradually crept in during the day thought there was plenty of use in trying to start over again. They scrubbed and washed all day long. The soldiers of the Legion had collected for the major's staff use crockery from a score of ruined houses and the women here now washed all that up. They had three big clothes baskets loaded with crockery and I wondered what a time they were going to have re-distributing all of it to the owners. Then old man Ramos told us what it was that put that haunted look in his eyes. It wasn't the fact that he had spent eight nights sleeping in the fields with his family to escape the Reds. It wasn't the damage to his property. It was just that the Reds had taken his eighteen-year-old son and the son hadn't come back.

The old man looked off at the horizon and said "The boy didn't have no interest in politics. He was just a hard-working boy, studying to be a pharmacist. Don't see why they had to take him."

The old man went down the village road, his shoulders drooping.

We had to fix our own dinner that night and made a stew by cutting up a can of salmon with the big sweet Spanish onions, peppers and tomatoes. We cooked it over an open fire in one of the huge kitchen's fireplaces. Aside from the fact we put too much salt in it and that it ought to have cooked another hour, it was fine.

We went to bed early to get up at dawn and catch up with Major Castejon.

So we spent the day watching the population return to their ruined houses. Mournful old man Ramos, owner of the house we were living in, arrived on the scene and it was pitiful to see him walking through room after room, picking up little